VOL. III. RALEIGH, N. C., THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1868. NO. 255.

DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

From the National Intelligencer.

COLFAX BACKS OUT FROM THE CRIMINAL OBJECTS OF THE GUANO IMPEACHMENT.

Mr. Colfax, on Saturday, promptly refused to set in the base and dishonorable office Butler sought to impose upon him. It was well that he did so. His refusal was not alone from a sense of the obligations of the common decencies and proprieties of life, but from a keen appreciation of the application to him of the criminal law of the United States. Had the Speaker of the House, or any other individual, with or without an order of the House, broken the seal of a letter addressed to Mr. Woolley, and coming through the postoffice, he would have made himself liable to indictment and conviction, and it would have been the duty of Woolley's counsel to have caused such offender to be arraigned at the bar of the criminal court. The Radical candidate for the Vice Presidency saw the peril in which he was to be placed by the movement of Butler.

The Speaker not only refused to accept the office, but replied that he would not, even under an order from the House, consent to open the letters or examine the telegrams of another man. He could not stoop to such disgraceful conduct. Who in the House, when this utterance of the presiding officer fell upon the ear, did not apply to Butler himself the covert condemnation and denunciation it conveyed too directly to need expression? Butler had not only violated the confidence and sanctity of private telegrams, but he had done so without the semblance of authority from the House; he had done so, not once or twice, but by wholesale, and without even the excuse that they should not pass to the parties for whom they were intended, because contrary to the orders with regard to incarceration; but he had gone by himself or his agents, and unlawfully seized and taken whole patches of private telegrams belonging to private citizens, who were without charge against them, and engaged in attention to their private business, without restraint upon their conduct or communications, and believing they were FREE MEN, PROTECTED BY THE LAWS OF A FREE COUNTRY, alike from the felonious stealing of their silver-ware or their private letters.

GRANT.

General Grant has become, at length, only the lay-figure of Radicalism, if his position can be interpreted by his public acts. Reticence—the General's strong point—is sometimes found to be the congenial refuge of sagacity; but reticence will serve, too, for a cloak to mental shallowness and timidity, and may be the mark of coarseness, insensibility and ignorance. In all candor, we are compelled to make an application of the latter hypothesis to General Grant. Certainly, as a public man, he has not so far manifested that kind of courage, which, being big with conviction, naturally finds utterance in open and consistent avowals of opinion. We incline to attach to this fact great importance in making out a moral diagnosis of the man. Inasmuch as Gen. Grant was silent when the weight of his moral influence would have given definite direction to public policy, he must be looked upon as among that class of easily moulded men who are led by the force of others, or who, incapable of leading, cautiously follow what they conceive to be the veerings of public sentiment. From the day Grant set his signature to the articles of capitulation at Appomatox Court House, to the present time, his movements have been marked by certain contradictions, difficult to reconcile. He has never acted in the true spirit of a conquering general towards a vanquished foe. He has never endeavored to carry out the essential provisions of the terms of surrender made by his subordinate generals, nor stood upon the good faith that required him to see, so far as his position would permit, that the penalties of victory did not extend beyond the abandonment of the cause his enemy was fighting to maintain. He accepted office under the President, and attended him on his political journeyings He wrote dispatches decidedly conservative in tone; but changed his position at a time when it was demanded of him to stand firm. He drifted into the espousal of Sheridan, when that general began an active participation in political affairs, and, finally, found himself in direct antagonism to the President, and even at issue with him on a question of personal veracity. He found it not inconsistent with his personal dignity to snub the Chief Magistrate in a published letter, and to impute dishonorable conduct to him, his superior in office. He has been found capable of using his personal influence to favor impeachment, with a member of the Court, when he was himself the expected recipient of political advantages to be gained by the President's conviction.

His letter to the President, upon his resignation of the War Office, was characterized by extreme personal malignity, and seems to have been written for public effect. The occasion was seized, it appears, by certain Radical politicians in the General's confidence, to turn his reply to political account, and as that epistle was evidently the result of consultation, it suggests, in tone and tenor, what is the great defect of the General's conduct in public affairs—a leaning dependence upon the advice of others. The burthen of proof is that he has no decided views upon the political situation, but is carried over to a sympathy with the Radicals by dextrous personal manœuvering. He is led by affinities, and has a silent way of nestling up to men of superior force, or the still commoner habit of following the caprices of personal fellowship and partiality. He became accordingly, by careful nursing, the easy prey of Radicalism. He has been dandled and fondled by Radical politicians, whose especial office seems to have been to win him over to them body and soul. Mr. Washburne, especially, has given much time and attention to the handling of Ursa Major; and a brood of expectant politicians has vied with one another in stroking and caressing Bruin until he purred contentedly in the Radical lap. The quality which induced the aspiring Stanton, being jealous of McClellan, to incline to General Grant, was the apparent negation of personal opinion, that makes the latter now so ductile to the ends of the Radical party.

We should look to see General Grant, upon his accession to the Presidency, inaugurate no new or definite policy, but expect him to pursue the same shifting expediency that has so far been seen in the management of his party. He would find himself at a lost to adjust differences which might arise among contending factions; and as he could not command peace, he must submit to vacillate sorely between these or make a final surrender to one or other of them. He has had no experience in state-craft; but possesses a dangerous proclivity for military discipline at variance with the peaceful and lawful solution of the great question of the day. His tastes are proverbially coarse; his habits without proper decorum. His military record is the result of the certain operation of the law of comparative exhaustion, rather than the exhibition of great prowess or military genius. The conservative element in his party, which looks to him for more moderate measures, can find no comfort for such expectation in his late conduct favoring impeachment, or his violent letter to the President. His reticence must be construed to be only an artifice to cover up ignorance, and an uncertain and time-serving lack of individuality and courage.—Balt. Leader.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE WAR,
ITS CAUSES, CHARACTER, CONDUCT AND RESULTS.
By HON. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.
A BOOK FOR ALL SECTIONS AND ALL PARTIES.

THIS GREAT WORK PRESENTS THE ONLY complete and impartial analysis of the causes of the War yet published, and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood-tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr. Stephens, from his position as second officer of the Confederacy.
To a public that has been surfeited with APPARENTLY SIMILAR PRODUCTIONS, we promise a change of fare both agreeable and salutary, and an intellectual treat of the highest order. The Great American War has AT LAST found a historian worthy of its importance, and at whose hands it will receive that moderate, candid and impartial treatment which truth and justice so urgently demand.
The intense desire everywhere manifested to obtain this work, its official character and ready sale, combined with an increased commission, make it the best subscription book ever published.
One Agent in Easton, Pa., reports 72 subscribers in three days.
One in Boston, Mass., 103 subscribers in four days.
One in Memphis, Tenn., 106 subscribers in five days

LOYALTY.

There is no word in the English language, which has gathered more of reproach and disrepute about it, on account of the way in which it has been of late years perverted, than the word Loyalty, which, taken in its true significance of fidelity to the sovereign, in a monarchy, or to the Constitution, in a Republic, is a high and admirable sentiment and principle. Like a few other words, its meaning has been entirely reversed, by the manner in which it has been employed, and it is now made to convey an idea diametrically different from that which originally and properly attached to it. It has come to mean devotion to a party, that is waging war upon the Constitution, and seeking to subvert that sacred instrument,—the advocacy of fanatical and dangerous principles, utterly inconsistent with the true genius and spirit of our institutions,—attachment to revolutionary and anarchical ideas, that can only triumph on the ruins of all that is good and venerated in government. And hence it is, that those, who are now branded as "disloyal," are really the fastest and best friends of the government and its Constitution; and those who, with a disgusting and Pharisaical affectation of political virtue, claim to be "trooly loil," are the worst enemies of the Republic. And hence, too, it has come about, that the word "disloyalty," so far from having any terrors for good and patriotic men, is really accepted as a compliment and a badge of honor, when flung at them by the designing and corrupt demagogues and destructives, who are seeking to rule or ruin.

"Loyalty," too, within three short years, has assumed as many and as variant hues as the Chameleon,—its prototype in the animal world. Here in North Carolina, for instance, the miserable creatures, who arrogate all the loyalty, have changed its application at least twice a year within that period. For some time after the surrender, it meant support of the President's policy; and in a short time it consisted in denunciation of Mr. Johnson as "the tyrant in the White House." In 1865 it signified "unqualified opposition to negro suffrage,"—now it means the elevation of the negro to political and social equality with the white man. At one time, it was contained in the doctrine that the States never were out of the Union,—and again in the idea that they are conquered provinces and need "reconstruction." One day, confiscation was the shibboleth of loyalty,—at another, some other atrocious scheme of vengeance and persecution. And so on through all the contemptible shifting phases of the word. As one has said, that whenever you hear a man, like Jack Falstaff, prating of his prowess, you may count him a poltroon, and whenever you hear one vaunting his peculiar honesty, you may write him down a rascal. And so it is, whenever you hear one of these fellows ringing the changes on his "loilty," you may set it down, at once, that he was active in bringing on the war, —that he was hot for exterminating the Yankees,—that he denounced "old Abe Lincoln" more bitterly than he now abuses President Johnson,—that he was hard on negroes, if he ever owned any,—and that he has been, since the war, loud-mouthed and blatant in hostility to negro office holding, negro juries, negro suffrage and even negro testimony in the Courts!

From "loyalty," as understood and illustrated by such men, we pray most fervently to be delivered. Count us "disloyal."

THAT CIVIL WAR.

The Congress and the Northern people might have been thunder-struck or alarmed, or their vindictiveness against the President and the people of the South might have been whetted, could they have relied upon it, when the following telegram reached Washington:

RALEIGH, May 14.—Prompt action on the part of Congress, in relation to the admission of North Carolina, will be our only hope to avert a terrible civil war again, in the event the usurper at the White House shall be acquitted.

In the name of humanity, liberty and justice, can it be possible that Andrew Johnson will be acquitted? We have our apprehensions, but, nevertheless, strong hopes that the Senate will vindicate violated law. Strike the usurper from his seat, and thus save the country. It will be the darkest day that ever fell over this land, if he should be acquitted.

W. W. HOLDEN.

But it seems the carpet-baggers and Southern "loyalists" were not content with the influence of the foregoing telegram.—Col. Dewese, who addressed a meeting in Washington City, about the same time, endorsed the telegram. The same scare-crow story was told at Chicago. We believe most of these libellers of our people have returned. The President has been acquitted and yet entire quiet reigns in the State. The "trooly loil" have come home, and, so far as we have learned, they have not been molested.

The Southern people have had enough of war and turmoil, whether civil or foreign. The intimation of scallawags and carpet-baggers, that they are disposed to stir up strife, is a falsehood, made of the whole cloth. They will submit to law, until an unwise or unjust law is repealed, but they will resist to the end, in a lawful way, every encroachment upon justice and right.

HON. JEHU BAKER, of Illinois, who is known to most of our citizens, in connection with that "sell" at Tucker Hall, declines, we see it stated, to be a candidate for re-election to Congress from the Twelfth District of Illinois. Mr. Baker, in one or two instances, of late, has exhibited independence and honesty, in his representative duties.

THE NO POLICY CANDIDATE.

Gen. Grant, in his letter of acceptance of the Chicago nomination, declares that he has no policy in opposition to the will of the people. He endorses the platform made at Chicago, without exception, which he may do, without committing himself to any principle, of which it is entirely destitute, but that he has no policy, or that the Chicago Convention had no policy, is not true.—The platform and Gen. Grant's course evidently indicate that their policy is to blow hot or blow cold to catch votes—to do any thing to secure the election.

Reticent as Gen. Grant is, he employs certain honeyed phrases on all suitable occasions, indicating that he would have it understood, that he is the people's man, that he bows to the will of the people, that the will of the people is the "higher law" which he respects above the Constitution, whenever the rump Congress expresses it. From such a man such expressions are ominous and portend evil. Nothing more fully developes the game of the demagogue, and the role of the man who would wield despotic power, than expressions of this sort. Men aiming at supreme authority have always chosen, as a means to that end, great professions of love for the "dear people,"—great reliance upon the voice of the people. The present Emperor of France was singularly democratic in his professions, when aiming to establish the Empire. He would not dare assume it, unless conferred by the will of the people! That will was obtained, but how? Why, just as Radicalism has obtained its power in the South, by the manipulation of registrars, poll-holders, &c., at the elections, and by the potency of bayonets. No free election has been held in the South, since the war, and, under Radical rule, there never will be.

But can it be true that a man of Gen. Grant's manner of life and unexpected success can have no policy? He admits, and his friends admit, that he has a will, and a very stubborn will, at that. Can such a man live without a policy? Impossible.—He may be reticent—may conceal his policy, for a purpose. So long as he needs friends, he may flatter the people and he may flatter Congress, but when once he takes the reins and feels sure that he is in his stirrups, the man of destiny, as his friends claim, and the man of will, will show that he has a policy. Nor can Congress shape that policy for him.

FEDERAL COURT.—The business before the Court, we learn, is very heavy. The Court must continue several weeks, before the docket can be cleared. We observe quite a number of persons, whom we take to be planters, in attendance as witnesses and jurors. This is singularly unfortunate. Many have come as witnesses two or three hundred miles, and frequently with but little means to pay expenses. Their crops are necessarily neglected. Many of the cases are very trivial. If this state of things is likely to continue, His Honor, Judge Brooks, and those who are interested, ought to urge upon Congress some modification of the law, by which he could hold two additional Courts—one at Charlotte and one at Morganton or Asheville. Besides, where the Courts are likely to continue more than a week, jurors and witnesses should be summoned to attend the week their services are needed. No man should be required to attend Court more than a week at a time, at this season of the year. We make these suggestions, because of the well-grounded complaints which parties make, of their inability to bear the expenses and the losses they must suffer from detention from their business.

THE CARPET BAGGERS COME TO TOWN.—The crowds around the Herald office and along Broadway were thrown into a state of wonderment yesterday by an army of carpet baggers marching along with bands of music, blowing of trumpets and a great excitement generally. Everybody wondered what all these men, marching in file and carrying carpet bags in their hands, were after, where they all came from and what it meant. The old nursery song came fresh to every one's mind:—

Hark, hark, the dogs do bark;
The beggars (baggers) are coming to town.

And it was generally believed that this was an exodus of the hosts of radical carpet-baggers from Washington on their way home to Yankee land in consequence of the impeachment fizzle. Looking at the number, this was a reasonable supposition. At least it was a novel and curious scene, even to the Gothamites.—N. Y. Herald, June 1st.

The exodus has not been altogether in the direction of "Yankee Land." These men swarm all over the South like the locusts of Egypt. It was fondly hoped that the number would be sensibly reduced, in view of the failure of impeachment, as most of them declared that it would be unsafe for them to remain in the South if the President was acquitted. But the fears of the timorous patriots seem to have subsided.

"Not a drum is heard"

—and nary a "fife."

FUNDAMENTAL CONDITIONS.—Judge Trumbull, on Saturday, speaking of that provision of the Arkansas bill which declares that the Constitution shall not be altered in a certain way, said that, "in regard to the fundamental condition, he thought it valueless, as being inoperative; that Arkansas as well as Illinois could change its Constitution according to the views of its people. That provision being practically inoperative, he would vote to admit Arkansas under the bill."

THE BEST GOVERNMENT IN THE WORLD.—In the House of Representatives, Saturday, Mr. Morgan showed that in England the aggregate taxes average only 90 cents on the $100 of property, while they average $3.93 in the United States. In other words, the taxes in the United States are more than four times as great, in proportion to the wealth of the nation, as in Great Britain.

DISTRICT No. 1.—The Virginia papers speak in pleasant terms of Gen. Stoneman, who succeeds Gen. Schofield as Commander of District No. 1. He has been stationed in Petersburg, where his administration was generally acceptable.

The Georgia Legislature will have in it twenty-eight negroes, three in the Senate and twenty-five in the House of Representatives.

THE COMIC CHICAGO PLATFORM.

Gilbert Abbott A'Beckett made very nice things out of the Comic Blackstone, Comic Mythology, &c. But, as we said last week, the London Punch never imagined anything as funny as the Chicago Convention and its platform. As we also said last week, it won't do to exhaust the comic platform at a single go. The curled Anthony might swallow the solved pearls of the seductive Cleopatra at one intemperate draught; but Anthony was, after all, a kind of imperial pig, and the dusky Queen of the Nile no better than she should be. But the comic pearls of the Chicago platform must be kept carefully away from cider vinegar, or any other solvent, taken up one by one, polished on the cuffs of the people's sleeves, and tossed from hand to hand, so that everybody many have their fair share of honest laughter over them.

Now, then, ladies and gentlemen, we will have the great "pigeon trick," or Section No. 2. Here it is:

"2d. The guarantee by Congress of equal suffrage to all loyal men at the South, was demanded by every consideration of public safety, of gratitude and of justice, and must be maintained, while the question of suffrage in all the loyal States properly belongs to the people of these States."

So, you see, we cut off the heads of the two pigeons. We don't pluck them now.—A word in your ear:—We postpone that until after the election. But we cut off their heads. Then we put them in this bag, and shake them so, and out they fly—the white pigeon with the black pigeon's head on, and the black pigeon with the whith pigeon's head on. You don't see through the trick, eh? Very likely. (Stop, it may be as well to explain that Mr. H. Greeley is supposed to be delivering this lecture.)

So, ladies and gentlemen, you see the expression—"Equal suffrage to all loyal men at the South"—is what I call a very pretty conundrum. We might have said, "South Pole," but I told the Committee on Resolutions that I considered that as carrying the joke a little too far. For, you see, when we make a conundrum, we like something definite. We can't bear to be equivocal. Now, that Section No. 2 is what I call exact; for, since no man can give a definition of it, nor no man understand it, there isn't the slightest danger of anybody's being misled by it. And so soon as the lecture's over, ladies and gentlemen, we will rub the chalk off the black pigeon's head, the lamp black off the white pigeon's head, and then we'll pluck 'em both, and have them for supper. Which nobody can deny. Myself, or somebody else, will lecture on the Comic Chicago platform, Providence permitting, every week during the session. Admission six cents.—N. Y. Courier.

[Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]

THE DEATH OF EX PRESIDENT BUCHANAN—VISITORS OF THE PRESIDENT—CONGRATULATIONS OF OFFICE SEEKING FRIENDS.

WASHINGTON, June 1st.—President Johnson received this evening, from a member of the family of the deceased, a telegram announcing the death of ex President James Buchanan, at Wheatland, at 8.30 this morning. The President will to morrow advise with his Cabinet as to the proper mode of taking official notice of the death of Mr. Buchanan. It is probable that an order will be issued directing that as a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased ex-President, the government departments be closed upon a day to be named.

The White House has been thronged with visitors, to-day, and is well-filled to-night with them. Many of the visitors are of a class who suspended their calls during the impeachment trial, upon the belief that Mr. Johnson would be removed. These are now the most obsequious, and apparently most sympathetic of friends, who congratulate the President upon his acquittal and the triumph of the Constitution. They pronounce this with a "Didn't I tell you so" tone and prescient air.

It is suggested by parties well posted that these pushing sympathizers had already made their peace with Mr. Wade, and to him had "crooked the pregnant hinges of the knee" up to the final vote on impeachment. Of course they are office-seekers.

INTERVIEW WITH GENERAL GRANT.—During an interview with General Grant to-day, he desired us to correct a word in his speech, made on Friday night last.—The sentence was—

You have truly said in the course of your address that I shall have no policy of my own to "interfere" against the will of the people.

The word "interfere" should be "enforce." In reference to the soldiers voting in this city to-day, General Grant replied to several queries by the reporters: "I have issued no orders on the subject;" "I do not intend to do so;" "I do not interfere with officers or soldiers in their voting." "Judge Cartter has nothing to do with our issuing orders."

General Grant had just returned from his visit to Gen. Schofield, when several members of the press met him. The General-in-Chief was in evident good humor. He said, "The appointment of Gen. Schofield meets my hearty approval." "I did all I could to have him confirmed." "There are rarely such men as he at the head of Departments." "He (Gen. S.) spent the afternoon and dined with me yesterday." "He is a most excellent man."

It was a noticeable fact that General Grant was less reticent to-day to the press than he ever has been, owing, no doubt, to his full flow of spirits at the assuming of the War portfolio by his friend, Gen. Schofield.—Wash. Bee. Express, 1st.

Eight hundred thousand acres of land in Southern Kansas were deeded many years ago to the Cherokee Indians by the government, in return for half a million dollars in gold, held in trust by the government for the Cherokees. The land, being apparently unoccupied and unclaimed, was taken possession of by settlers and pre-emptied, fifty thousand farmers being now settled on the land under the Homestead law. The Indians in 1866 demanded the value of their land, and, by some manœuvering, it is alleged, of Mr. Harlan, then Secretary of the Interior, it was bought by speculators, and thus the settlers, who would have paid more than the speculators, are in a fair way to be ousted or swindled. This peculiar arrangement was originally fixed up in secret session of the Senate, the House having no knowledge whatever of it.

A simple mode of computing interest is as follows: Multiply any given number of dollars by the number of days of interest required, separate the right-hand figure, and divide by six; the result is the true interest for such a number of days at six per cent. This rule is so simple and so true, according to all business usage, that every banker, broker, merchant, and clerk should post it up for reference and use. By no arithmetical process can so desirable information be obtained with so few figures.—Exchange.

Or multiply by one sixth of the number of days. The interest on $1,000 for thirty days would thus be found by simply multiplying by five.

"I wish," said a son of Erin, "I could find the place where men don't die, that I may go and end my days there."

ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, OF HARTFORD, CONN.

ASSETS, $9,000,000.

No. POLICIES 52,700.
DIVISIBLE SURPLUS $1,884,768,51.
DIVIDENDS, 50 per cent.

In these days of competition between Life Insurance Companies, much is said by rival Agents, each claiming the Company he represents to be the best. Without saying anything in disparagement of any Company, or, by simple assertion, anything in its favor, the ÆTNA begs leave to refer to the annexed table, compiled from the OFFICIAL and SWORN statements of twenty of the largest Companies in America, made to the Insurance Commissioners of the State of New York. The table shows the ratio of expense to each $100 received by each Company, for the three years ending January 1, 1868.
It will be seen that the expenses of the Ætna are much lower than any other Company; and, after the average is struck, the ÆTNA, in 1865, saved $10 41 out of each $100 received—more than the average; in 1866, $7 17, and in 1867 $4 90. The receipts of the ÆTNA were, in 1865, $1,655,309; in 1866, $3 522,376, and in 1867, $5,129,447. Consequently, its savings in the three years were $877,393.39, to which add 7 per cent. interest to July 1, 1868: $120,287 64, making a grand total of $797,307 03 saved over the average of all other Companies.
This is the measure of success, as applied by the Hon Elizur Wright, the greatest of American actuaries, to all Companies, and simply means that the Company whose RATIO of expense to its income is the least, is the best able to pay large dividends to its policy holders. That the Ætna is that Company, these comparisons of official statements plainly show.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.
EDSON FESSENDEN, President. | JAMES F. BURNS, Secretary.
IN PRESENTING THE CLAIMS OF THE PHŒNIX MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, to the people of North Carolina, the Agent invites their attention to the following statements:—
1. It is a Mutual Company, the profits being divided among the insured.
2. Its insured are allowed to travel and reside in any part of the United States and Europe, at all seasons of the year.
3. Its dividends have averaged 50 per cent yearly, and are payable on the amount of premium paid by the insured.
4. Its policies are all NON-FORFEITING.
5. Its losses have been met by the annual interest received alone,—and a surplus of interest left over to swell the general fund belonging to the insured.
6. It has paid over $300,000 of losses, and NEVER CONTESTED A CLAIM.
7. Its rates of assurance are as cheap as any Company doing a SAFE business.
8. It WILL NOT INSURE AN UNSOUND LIFE.
9. One half the premium will be received in the note of the insured—which note, in case of death, is NEVER deducted from the face of the policy.
10. IT HAS NO CONNECTION WITH FIRE INSURANCE.

Relative character of the Companies operating in North Carolina, as to their Assets and Liabilities, taken from the New York Insurance Report for the year 1867, which is the last report—showing how much of Assets each Company has to meet each dollar of Liability:

CORRECTION.—In noticing the Attorneys from a distance, who are in attendance on the Federal Court, now in session in this City, we inadvertently mentioned the name of M. L. McCorkle, Esq., of Catawba Co., when we should have said J. M. McCorkle, Esq., of Salisbury.

STATE SUMMARY.

The examination of the negroes arrested upon suspicion of complicity in the murder of Wade Ditcher, (negro,) at Weldon, has resulted in the commitment of Gus Baker, Jim Thomas and Dick Williams, upon testimony sufficient to identify them as the murderers. We glean the following particulars from the Norfolk Day Book, of Tuesday:

"They were committed wholly upon the testimony of Nelson Weaver and Frank McAllister, negro witnesses, who were in the house in which he was murdered, and in the room at the time. From their testimony, which is very plain, it seems that several negroes assembled at the building known as the "Old Hotel," on Sunday evening week, for the purpose of gambling; during the game, in which Ditcher was getting the best hand, the others became incensed and attacked him, for cheating them, as they said, but, as it subsequently turned out, to rob him of money which they supposed he had in his possession. McAllister stated, that they first struck him, knocking him to the floor.

He succeeded in rising to an upright position, when they again assaulted him; when he, realizing the horrible position in which he was placed, begged them for "God's sake" not to kill him, and told them he had money. They struck him again, when he fell on his knees, called them "masters," and prayed them not to kill him. They did not listen to his entreaties, but proceeded with their fiendish purpose; and, after brutally beating and butchering, succeeded in murdering him. They then searched him, robbed his person, wrapped the body up and carried it to the river, where they hid it."

At an auction sale of stocks, in Petersburg, on Monday, by Wm. Pannill, Auctioneer, forty-seven shares of Raleigh and Gaston Railroad Stock were sold at $43 per share, and ten shares of North Carolina Railroad Stock at $20.50.

The Editor of the Statesville American, who was a former Merchant, pronounces the fabrics made at the Rock Island Factory equal to any made elsewhere in the United States. There isn't a doubt of it, we suppose. The American justly adds that "the establishment is an honor to the gentlemen whose enterprise and great struggles through many difficulties erected it, a credit to the State, and a benefaction to hundreds of operatives, men, women and children, who find employment and obtain honorable subsistence by their industry."

The Wilmington Journal gives an account of a terrible accident which occurred to the down mail and passenger train on the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, Sunday night last, about 11 o'clock, one mile South of Whitaker's Station. While proceeding along on schedule time, and when just over an embankment some twenty feet high, the engineer observed that a rail was misplaced on the track. He immediately blew his whistle and shut down the engine but could not check its speed sufficiently to prevent the accident. The engine and tender, second and third class cars, and ladies' coach, all were tumbled down the embankment and literally smashed. The sleeping car alone remained on the track, and to this the ladies' coach was held by the coupling pins, and greater damage prevented. The engine was turned wheels in the air, and is seriously damaged. The engineer, Mr. John Hewlett, escaped without injury,—how, it is unknown. Captain Geo. Morrison, the Conductor, was in the second class car, and also escaped unhurt. The passengers and train hands also escaped as by a miracle, no serious injury having been sustained by any one. On the whole, the escape of all on board is the most miraculous thing on record.

The City Bank of Charlotte, under the proprietorship of H. B. Peters, with W. A. Williams, as Cashier, and C. N. G. Batt, as Teller, is open for the transaction of business.

Several families, embracing twenty or more persons, left Rutherford county, last week, in search of new homes in Northern Texas. We fear they will hardly better their fortunes there.

On Monday night, a fire (the second within a few days) occurred in Salisbury, by which a building on the premises of Dr. Caldwell was destroyed. These two fires, following each other so closely, have excited general alarm. An efficient police force has been organized, and stringent regulations adopted to prevent incendiarism in the future. The Mayor has also offered a reward for the apprehension of the incendiaries.

OUR RAILROADS.—The Railroads in North Carolina were never so well managed, perhaps, as they are at present. The North Carolina Road, under the Presidency of Hon. Josiah Turner, seems perfect in all its functions, and proves the efficiency of that officer. The speed is about 25 miles an hour, connections are never missed, and accidents never happen.

The Wilmington and Weldon Road, under the management of Col. S. L. Fremont, seems perfect and efficient, and offers the greatest inducements to shippers in the interior, for the transportation of goods and merchandise by Goldsboro.

The Western North Carolina Road, under the management of Col. S. McTate, is doing well, and being rapidly extended westwardly.—Statesville American.

Friend Drake speaks from experience, having recently travelled over these Roads. Had his business carried him over the Raleigh and Gaston and the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Roads, he would have found them equally deserving of the just encomiums which he bestows above.

For the Sentinel.

NOW AND THEN.

Messrs. Editors:—I see that Mr. W. W. Holden is again cultivating the Muse. He wrote a poem, it seems, which was read upon the recent very proper occasion of the decoration of the graves of the Federal dead. This is the first time that he has mounted Pegasus since he indited the Ode to Calhoun:

"Star of the South!" &c.

The Memorial effusion is lacking in the poetic fire of the Ode to Calhoun. The latter was written from the heart, while hypocrisy held the pen when the former was produced. Besides, the Poet is growing old.

I suggest a refrain to be appended to each stanza, which, considering the authorship, will be recognized as appropriate.

UNION.

THE UNION DEAD.

BY W. W HOLDEN.

A nation saved weeps o'er the brave,
Who, faithful to its life and laws,
'Mid march, and siege, and suffering, gave
Themselves unto its holy Cause.
(But wo! the man who this unholy war began,
Alas! alas! I am the man—W. W. Holden!)

On rugged mount, in sylvan shade,
By murmuring stream and sounding de p,
'Neath soil their valor classic made
The Heroes of the Union sleep.
(But wo! the man who this unholy war began,
Alas! alas! I am the man—W. W. Holden!)

To future Time's remotest verge
Let votive offerings deck each grave,
And sacred eulogy and dirge
Lament them bravest of the brave!
(But wo! the man who this unholy war began,
Alas! alas! I am the man—W. W. Holden!)

The flag still soars towards the sun:
The Union f ars no traitor now:
Freedom for all at last is won,
And Glory crowns the nation's brow.
(But wo! the man who this unholy war began,
Alas! alas! I am the man—W. W. Holden!)

Half mast the flag!—the minute gun
Roll forth its heavy note of woe!
Their fame is safe,—the work is done
Of those who calmly sleep below.
(But wo! the man who this unholy war began,
Alas! alas! I am the man—W. W. Holden!)

War may again his havoc make,
New actors fill the r allotted part,
Yet still these memories, fresh, shall wake
Their echoes in the nation's heart.
(But wo! the man who this unholy war began,
Alas! alas! I am the man—W. W. Holden!)

When Grant was in command at Paducah, Kentucky, he ordered the Jews, men, women and children, to leave that city, not giving them time to take even their household goods along with them. No reason whatever was assigned for this harsh and unnecessary exhibition of brief authority, and the Jews had done nothing to merit such tyranny. The Jews of St. Louis are about to hold a convention to consider what action they will take during the coming Presidential election. There are about 2,200 Jewish voters in that city alone.

The Irish Citizen, upon full consideration of the national platform adopted by the Radicals the other day in Chicago, says "on the whole it is seldom that so false, fraudulent and utterly immoral a document has been given to the world, even for a party platform. If that party carry the next election, there will be a speedy end, probably a violent end, to the United States."

THE OMNIBUS BILL—THE AMENDMENTS REPORTED.

WASHINGTON, June 3 M.

The Senate Judiciary Committee have reported the following amendments to the House Omnibus Bill, viz:

They add Florida and exclude Alabama from its provisions.

It is made a fundamental condition that there must never be an abridgement of suffrage, on account of race or color.

In the case of Georgia, there is required the nullification of the 1st. and 3rd. sub-divisions of the Sec. 17, Art. 5, of the Constitution, except the proviso to the first sub-division.

The Legislatures may be convened within thirty days after the passage of the act, by the Governors elect. It is a pre-requisite that the State Legislatures shall adopt the Fourteenth Amendment, which fact it shall be the duty of the President to proclaim within ten days after official notification thereof.

BRILLIANT DEMOCRATIC VICTORY IN OREGON.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3, M.

The Oregon election has resulted in a Democratic triumph. The Democratic Congressman is elected by 1,000 majority.

The Legislature and nearly all the County officers are Democratic.

[Oregon went Radical last election, and is now represented by a Republican Congressman.—Sentinel.]

THE CASE OF MR. DAVIS.

RICHMOND, June 3 M.

The U. S. District Court met this morning, Chief Justice Chase and Underwood presiding.

The Chief Justice called the case of Mr. Davis, when Mr. Anderson, of Mississippi, one of the Counsel for the Defence, read an agreement for postponement until October, signed by Messrs. Evarts and O'Connor.

The Chief Justice then asked if the Counsel were ready for trial, independent of this stipulation.

Gov. Wolfe, for the Prosecution, replied that, in view of the absence of the District Attorney, whose wife is in a dying condition, the absence of the prisoner, caused by this stipulation, and the absence of Mr Evarts, who stood in a position more directly representing the Attorney General, the case could not well be gone on with. He suggested some day of the October Term, when the Chief Justice could attend.

The Counsel for the Defence moved for a postponement to next Term; which was granted,—the Chief Justice saying, at the same time, that had the trial taken place May a year ago, or last Fall, or now, it would have been more convenient for him, as he was ready to try the case. He would, however, attend next Term, if possible in view of his other duties.

The witnesses, including Gen. R. E. Lee, were recognized to appear on the Fourth Monday in November, and the prisoner's bail bond was renewed.

THE LOUISIANA ELECTION, STATE GOVERNMENT, &C.

NEW ORLEANS, June 3, M.

The anxiously looked-for election order of Gen. Buchanan was promulgated to-day.

It announces the State, Perish and Judicial officers, but makes no mention of the municipal officers.

It states that the civil government hereby provided for is Provisional in character, until after the 14th article shall have become a part of the Constitution of the U. S.

The officers elected shall enter upon their duties on the first Monday in November, in accordance with article 158 of the new Constitution; but vacancies occurring in the mean time will be filled, preferably, by the person who has been elected to it.

Any officer found to be disabled will hold over until disability is removed, or new election held.

Cases of contested elections will be decided by the proper civil tribunals, in accordance with the existing State Constitution and laws.

The following is the paragraph relative to the assembling of the Legislature, viz:

"The General Assembly will not convene, until the General Commanding shall have been official ly notified of the acceptance, by Congress, of the new State Constitution. Immediately after the receipt of this information, a day will be appointed for the meeting of the General Assembly, to take action upon the 14th amendment, and to define, by law, the powers and duties pertaining to the offices newly created by this Constitution."

RIOT AMONG THE NEGROES IN WASHINGTON—SPEECH FROM THE PRESIDENT, &C.

WASHINGTON, June 3, P. M.

The negroes were very disorderly last night.—A white youth named Handly was terribly hacked with razors, shot and left for dead. Several houses were stoned and the people are very much exasperated. Further demonstrations are threatened to-night, and serious consequences were apprehended, until the people were assured that both the military and police would prevent armed and unauthorized processions.

The Committee on Ways and Means have agreed to postpone action on the Tariff until next session, except special action on some articles.

The Printer's Union called on the President to-day, who, among other things, said: "And I consider it a matter distinction to wear upon my garments the tinge of the shop and the dust of the field than all the insignia that may attach from victories won on fields, cumbered with crushed and bleeding humanity. The aristocracy of labor is true Democracy and to that aristocracy I belong."

CONGRESS AND OTHER MATTERS—JUDGE CHASE, &C.

WASHINGTON, June 3, P. M.

SENATE.—A Bill was introduced, relieving disabilities of certain Georgians.

The Bill organizing Wyoming Territory passed.

Hendricks moved to take up a bill, making eight hours a day's work in the Government work-shops.

Trumbull urged the immediate consideration of the Omnibus admission Bill

Without considering either, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The Ohio contested election case resulted in the ousting of Morgan, (Dem.) and seating Delano, (Rad.)

Resolutions of respect to ex-President Buchanan, and appointing a Committee of seven to attend the funeral, were tabled,—several members objecting to the declaration that the deceased's motives were "patriotic." The vote was 73 to 67.

Paine, from the Reconstruction Committee, reported the Arkansas Bill, as amended by the Senate, with an amendment.

Brooks objected, as the Reconstruction Committee had not ordered the report.

The Speaker decided that the House had the control.

The House refused to receive the report—55 to 56.

A resolution stating ex-President Buchanan's death, and providing, simply, as a mark of respect for one who held such an eminent public station, that the Speaker appoint a committee of seven, &c., here passed. Ayes 16.

Recess to seven o'clock.

A Telegram in the Herald, professing to originate with a person enjoying intimate relations with Judge Chase, represents that he would only accept a nomination when the nation was in its utmost peril, and not then at a sacrifice of his honest convictions. He a imits that the Radical party and himself differ widely, and, as parties are now organized, he is with the Democratic party. He differs from them only on one point—that of universal manhood suffrage. He agrees with them on all other great issues, and, if elected by that party, he would certainly carry out their policy. The deplorable condition of the Southern States demands proper Congressional consideration, and also material aid from the general Government. There is no Constitutional authority for holding the Southern States in subjection—it is alike unwise and unjust. He favors enfranchisement and the removal of political disabilities from every white man in the South. He thinks freedom and manhood suffrage are unquestionably right, but controverts any other power than the States themselves to confer the right—the general government having no control over the matter. He opposes political disabilities and favors a general amnesty. Regards general amnesty as absolutely necessary and urges liberal aid to the Southern Railroads and navigable rivers. He thinks the Government should build levees from Cairo to the Gulf, and urges an early return of specie payment. Condemns in strong terms the trial of citizens by military commissions, during peace, and hopes if Johnson reorganizes the Cabinet, he will appoint a due proportion from the Southern States.

Replying to a question, Chase said: "Congress had no power to abridge the President's pardoning power."

The Secretary of War, at the suggestion of the General of the Armies, sends to the House a letter from the General commanding the First District, dated May 13th. He says, among other things:

"I have already appointed in Virginia nearly five hundred officers, and would have appointed more, if qualified persons could have been found."

He concludes: "When the amendment is adopted, a large number of offices must remain vacant, until Congress gives some relief."

The troops are under arms in the city, by order of Gen. Hancock, to keep the peace.

Directions for Getting Staves.

NORFOLK, May 27, 1868.

Messrs. Editors:—We give below the Inspection Law of the State of Virginia, which applies to our market.

White Oak Hogshead Staves must be 5½ feet long, all heart, 3 inches wide, ½ inches thick on the thin edge, shaved smooth straight on sides and edges, clear of knots, worm holes, and wind shakes.

Red Oak Hogshead Staves must be 5 inches wide, if all heart, and 5½ inches wide if part sap—same length and thickness, and same requirements as White Oak Hogshead Staves.

White Oak Pipe staves must be 4½ feet long, all heart, same width, thickness, and requirements as White Oak Hogshead Staves.

White Oak Hogshead Heading must be 5 inches wide, all heart, one-third each 28, 30, and 32 inches long, same thickness and requirements as White Oak Hogshead Staves.

White Oak Barrel Staves must be 32 inches long, 3 inches wide, all heart, same thickness, and requirements as White Oak Hogshead staves.

Red Oak Bbhd. Staves, if gotten 48 inches long, 4 inches wide, and 1 inch thick, will command a better price than the ordinary dimensions, and are in more demand.

We would advise that all staves and Heading should be gotten a little over the dimensions required by law, to allow for shrinkage.

It takes 1,200 pieces to make a thousand Staves and Heading.

Staves and Heading of good quality always command remunerative prices in our market, and are nearly always in demand.

Having been engaged in selling Staves for eighteen years, we are perfectly conversant with the business, and flatter ourselves that we can and do always obtain the very highest prices.

Strict attention will be given to any consignments entrusted to our care, and prompt returns made. Any further information will be given on application with pleasure.

WIND AND SEA.

The sea is a jovial comrade,
He laughs wherever he goes;
His merriment shines in the dimpling lines
That wrinkle his hale repose;
He lays himself down at the feet of the sun,
And shakes all over with glee,
And the broad-backed billows fall faint on the shore,
In the mirth of the mighty sea!

But the wind is sad and restless,
And cursed with an inward pain;
You may hark as you will, by valley and hill,
But you hear him still complain.
He wails on the barren mountain,
And shrieks on the wintry sea;
He sobs in the cedar, and mourns in the pine,
And shudders all over the aspen tree.

Welcome are both their voices
And I know not which is best—
The laughter that slips from the ocean's lips,
Or the comfortless wind's unrest.
There's pang in all rejoicing,
A joy in the heart of pain,
And the wind that saddens, the sea that gladdens,
Are singing the self-same strain!

Impatient women, as you wait
In cheerful homes to-night, to hear
The sound of steps that, soon or late,
Shall come as music to your ear;

Forget yourselves a little while,
And think in pity of the pain
Of women who will never smile
To hear a coming step again.

And when the step you wait for comes,
And all your world is full of light,
O, women, safe in happy homes,
Pray for all lonesome souls to-night.

"Take the bright shell
From its home on the lea,
And wherever it goes
It will sing of the sea;
So take from my heart
From its home and its hearth,
'Twill sing of the loved
To the ends of the earth."

A PRECOCIOUS YOUTH.—A friend tells us of a lady who was recently reading to her child—a story of a little fellow whose father was taken ill and died, whereupon the youngster set himself diligently to work to assist in supporting himself and his mother.

When she had finished the story the following dialogue ensued:

Mother—Now, my little man, if your papa was to die, wouldn't you work to help your mother?

Boy—(Not relishing the idea of work.)—Why, ma, what for? Ain't we got a good house to live in?

Mother—Oh, yes, child, but we can't eat the house, you know.

Boy—Well, ain't we got flour and sugar and other things in the store room?

Mother—Certainly we have, my dear boy, but they won't last long—and what then?

Boy—Well, ma, ain't there enough to last until you get another husband?

A roar of laughter ended the colloquy.

Near San Francisco is a "restaurant," where the proprietors are compelled to adopt strict rules regarding payment for meals, as the public in that vicinity are in the habit of getting all they can without paying, and if allowed to eat before settling they want it charged. Recently a stranger called in and ordered soup. The waiter brought it up, set it down, then held out his palm. "What for?" inquired the stranger. "Pay, sir!" "What! before I eat it? wait till I get through." "No sir! we want pay before you eat!" "Well, that I never do; when I get through with the soup I will talk about pay." "That won't answer; I want pay now," exclaims the waiter.—"Well, if you can get it before I see fit to pay, let's see you," he replied, holding on to the plate and commencing to eat. At this the waiter whips out of his pocket a large syringe, inserts the point into the soup, and empties the dish before the astonished man can fully recover from his amazement at the strange proceeding. Exit waiter in triumph.

THE SKY.—The sky is nothing more than the air we breathe. Instead of the solid arch towering so many thousands of miles above us, where our childish fancy placed it, the blue sky is nothing but the color of the ocean of air in which we live and move. And as to its distance from us, it is all within three or four miles; for travellers who go upon high mountain-tops tell us that they no longer see any blue sky above them there, where the air is so thin that they pant for breath, but only the blackness of empty space.—Our Boys and Girls.

[That "blackness of empty space" is terrible.]

The Saturday Review has a long article on "Little Women," in which the writer endeavors to demonstrate that little women are the most sagacious, strategic, energetic and unconquerable of their sex. He contends that the frequent connection of energy and smallness in women, is a thing which all may verify in their own circle.—We'll bet he's got one of those "unconquerable" little women for a wife.

A clergyman lost his horse on Saturday evening, and after hunting with a boy until midnight, he gave up in despair. The next day, somewhat dejected at his loss, he went into the pulpit, and took for his text the following passage from Job: "Oh, that I knew where I might find him." The boy, who had just come in, supposing the horse was still the burden of thought, cried out, "I know where he is. He's in deacon Smith's barn."

"Uncle Jemmy," said a waggish blade to one of the best old men who ever lived or died, "I'm told you are very fond of apple-dumplings." "Why," said the patriarch, "when I lived in Virginia, I liked them better than anything in the world, and could eat eighteen or nineteen at a time; but, somehow, since I came to Georgia, my appetite has so failed me that I can never eat more than fourteen or fifteen before they begin to clog upon my stomach."

A politician, probably in the confidence of Washburne, announces that Grant has already selected his Cabinet. His slate reads as follows: For Secretary of War, his own private War Horse; for Secretary of the Navy, a venerable and experienced Sea Horse; for Secretary of the Treasury, the Back Mayor of Mobile; for Secretary of the Interior, one of the Hartford Colts. If this cabinet pulls together, it will give us a stable government.

Our readers have heard of the clergyman who quoted Sterne's sentence, "God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb," as a passage from the Bible. The mistake is not equal to that of a Friend, who in a meeting remarked: "A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse." The inspired apostle, friends, doubtless intended a spiritual horse."

A well-known Judge, when he first went to the bar, was a very blundering speaker. On one occasion, when he was trying a case involving a right of property to a lot of pigs, he said, "Gentlemen of the jury, there were just twenty-four pigs in that drove; just twenty-four, gentlemen,—exactly twice as many as there are in that jury-box."

Bad omen for Ulysses—The first Grant flag thrown to the breeze in Lynn was raised over an undertaker's shop.

LOOK OUT FOR A CREECH!

JUST RECEIVED, $15,000 worth of new Spring and Summer Goods, which must, at all events, be sold within the next sixty days, if possible—If you want—

LADIES' DRESS GOODS,

I have a beautiful assortment of the various styles and latest importations. It is a well known fact, and universally admitted, that to buy your goods. This can be, and is substantiated daily, by hundreds.

CREECH'S IS THE PLACE

If you want Cassimeres, Tweeds, Kentucky Jeans, Cotton and Linen Goods of all descriptions, and suitable for gentlemen, boys and children's wear, CREECH'S is the place to look for them.

At Low Prices,

Why, you may go up one side of Fayetteville Street and down the other; yes, and then the cross streets, and you will be bound to come to the conclusion that CREECH'S is the place you had better do your trading. If you want

LADIES' BONNETS,

trimmed or untrimmed, CREECH'S is the place to get them. If you wish to purchase any style of

LADIES, MISSES OR CHILDREN'S HATS,

don't buy until you have seen CREECH'S, or you will miss a great bargain, as he has one of the largest and most beautiful assortments in the City. If you are looking for

MEN'S, BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S HATS,

Ladies, Men and Children's Shoes, why if you stop at Creech's you will surely be suited in style, quality and price.

I told the people, some time ago, that there was no House in the City that could or would sell goods cheaper than I, and now I intend to keep my word. I said then what I meant, and now meant what I say. So don't fail to come to CREECH'S, on R. Smith's corner.

NEW ARRANGEMENT

FOR THE

SENTINEL.

Published in the City of Raleigh, N. C., Daily, Semi Weekly and Weekly.

William E. Pell, } Editors.
Seaton Gales, }

In view of the scarcity of money, and the severity of the times, the Proprietor of the SENTINEL has determined to reduce the terms of the paper, to commence after the 31st. DECEMBER, next, and to make such improvements in its general character as will commend it to the patronage of an enlightened public.

In POLITICS it will be thoroughly Conservative, advocating, at all times:

A strict observance of the Constitution of the United States, and the harmonious Union of equal States;

Obedience to law and the enforcement of order;

The supremacy of the civil over the military, in time of peace;

The equality of the three co-ordinate branches of the government;

The sovereignty of the States over their own internal affairs, in strict conformity to the Constitution;

Opposition to Radicalism in all its phases.

As a NEWS journal, it shall be equal to any.—

The principal markets will be regularly published.

Its LITERARY character shall be maintained and improved, by contributions from our best writers.

Finally, the SENTINEL will seek to be the special promoter of the educational, moral and economical interests of the people of North Carolina.

Terms:

Daily Sentinel, for one year	$8 00
" " six months	4 00
" " three months	2 00
Semi-Weekly Sentinel, for one year	4 00
" " six months	2 00
" " three months	1 00
Weekly " for one year	2 00
" " six months	1 00

All subscriptions strictly cash in advance.

As an advertising medium, the SENTINEL is equal to any in the State. Terms moderate.

☞ We ask every Conservative in the State to become our Agent to extend the circulation of the SENTINEL. The events of 1868 will be exciting and important. The WEEKLY SENTINEL should be in the hands of the great body of the people—The terms are now so low that every one will be able to pay for it.

North Carolina Mining Property for Sale in Baltimore.

VERY VALUABLE GOLD MINE AT AUCTION.

WILL BE SOLD, BY VIRTUE OF AUTHORITY vested in the undersigned, at the Exchange Sales Rooms, in the City of Baltimore on Tuesday, the 23d day of June, 1868, at one o'clock, P. M., all the property of the Baltimore & Montgomery Mining Company, better known as the

on the Uaharie river, in Montgomery county, North Carolina, containing about 700 ACRES OF LAND, with all its equipments, consisting of two Steam Engines, one of 10 horse and the other of 25 horse power, Pumps, two round Buddies, 16 feet diameter, 3 Washers with Rockers and Sluice-boxes, buildings for office, store and superintendent, a large Boarding-house, Barn, Stables, Blacksmith Shop, and about 20 small houses for miners, &c.

This mine is known as one of the most valuable in this country, and sufficiently developed, to a depth of upwards of 150 feet, so as to justify extensive operations; the vein is composed of argillaceous slate, and forms an auriferous bed of from 10 to 12 feet in thickness, carrying very rich strong veins of free gold in its centre.

Thorough and reliable examinations and reports have been made by Prof Chas. T. Jackson, of Boston, Prof. Genth, of Philadelphia, and the late Prof. Hausser, who all agree and represent this mining property of great intrinsic value.

Terms to be made known on the day of sale.

For further information as regards reports, &c., &c., apply to

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B., except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whom it is made, may stamp it before it is used; and if used after the 30th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument, to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publication, &c., in which case these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of scire facias are subject to stamp duty as original process.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and is subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits of legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any printed or written evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at any time designated, are subject to stamp duty as Promissory Notes.

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage, at time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps, denoting a duty of five cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instrument is liable, under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by one of the parties.

In conveyance of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required, and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.
